

THE SITUATION IS UNCHANGED

Politicians Still At Sea Over Solid State Delegation For The Favorite Son.

MYSTERIOUS MOVES NOT FOLLOWED

Whether Wisconsin Will Send Solid La Follette Delegation To National Convention, Still A Mystery.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Jan. 24.—The procession of La Follette followers to the executive office continues, and although no information is given out it is learned that the "La Follette for president" movement is becoming desperate in its situation with reference to securing the delegation of Wisconsin to the national republican convention.
This situation is wonderful, particularly in view of the fact that when the first announcement was made that there was hope of making La Follette a substantial element of the race for the presidential nomination, practical unanimity appeared to prevail in this state in favor of presenting a Wisconsin bid for the honor.
Men who had been classed for years as "stalwarts" frankly declared their favor of a Wisconsin presidential movement, and even Governor Davidson, whom La Follette had tried to "throw down and trample upon" after years of faithful service in most bitter campaigns, had declared that he would like to assist in making Senator La Follette president, because, the governor said, he was as much in favor of the principles for which La Follette had stood as though La Follette had always treated him right.
If at that time a broad, unguided movement had been started in favor of La Follette, there would have been no sign of division, and correspondence from the campaign headquarters of Taft exists to prove that the secretary of war desired not to enter Wisconsin against La Follette.
However, the "narrow gauge" politics so characteristic of the La Follette clan marked the movement in his behalf, and it was apparent that the nomination of La Follette was not the sincere purpose of the movement, but that the prime desideratum was the control of Wisconsin offices and the undoing of State Chairman Connor. And the result is the present uncertain and doubtful situation.

St. Louis City, Mo., Jan. 24.—Mayor James G. IS SENTENCED FOR PASSING BAD CHECKS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Beloit, Wis., Jan. 23.—After pleading guilty to a charge of passing a worthless check, Charles Pearce of Chicago was sentenced this morning in Beloit to a term of one year in Waupun. Pearce about a month ago appeared in Beloit with checks belonging to Peter O'Toole of Star Lake saying that he was O'Toole, it was later discovered that he was not O'Toole and that O'Toole has been held up and these checks taken from him. No evidence could be discovered, however, which would connect Pearce in any way with the hold-up nor were the perpetrators discovered, though it was quite certain that Pearce was mixed up with it in some way. He was, however, tried for uttering a worthless check and pleaded guilty to the charge. During the trial Pearce, who is a young fellow, asked his lawyer to try and get him sent to Green Bay and send the time with a lot of kids and he would not better medical attendance at Waupun.
—Minister Resigns
The Rev. Henry M. Munson of the Northern Lutheran Church has resigned his pastorate. He gives as his reason for so doing that he considers that his usefulness with the church has ended as all his plans and ideas for work are being opposed and thwarted by certain members of the church.
—Trouble in High Five
Trouble is brewing in the High Five, which is a conference of Wisconsin schools modeled after the Big Four collegiate athletic conference. According to the ruling adopted by the conference no professional coaches were to be hired. The student body at Beloit violated this by hiring Scribner of Wisconsin to coach their basketball team. As a result Lawrence has canceled their basketball game with Beloit which was to have been played next Saturday night. Dean Collier, who is president of the High Five, has called a meeting in which he will resign and have Beloit thrown out of the conference. Beloit will try and arrange a conference with some of the northern Illinois schools and possibly with Marquette of Milwaukee. This will include basketball, track meets and probably baseball. Lawrence will undoubtedly try and arrange schedules with schools in Minnesota and Dakota. If these plans materialize the High Five will be broken up. Ripon, Lake Forest and Northwestern College at Watertown are the other members of the conference and these, with the exception of Watertown, which will be put out in the cold, will have no difficulty in filling out schedules.

DYING WOMAN'S NOTE CLEARS UP MYSTERY

Daughter Of Murdered Man Leaves Note For Brother Saying She Was Cause Of Death.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Topeka, Kan., Jan. 24.—"George, I was the cause of father's death. Don't tell anyone unless you have to. Flora." These words, written and signed on her deathbed by Flora Tennyson, who is believed, clear up the mystery which has surrounded the murder of her father, David T. Tennyson, which occurred on February 27, 1906, near the town of Franklin, in Marshall county, about sixty miles northwest of this city. For nearly two years the authorities have vainly endeavored to unravel the mystery and obtain the necessary evidence against the guilty parties.
The murder occurred on the Tennyson farm, one mile east of Franklin. On the night of the crime Mr. Tennyson and his wife, who were elderly people and well-to-do, were sitting in the living room of their home. A daughter, Mrs. Flora Brock, who had, however, been separated from her husband who went under the name of Flora Tennyson, was in the sitting room with her parents. The only other members of the immediate family who lived with the parents were George Tennyson, a son of 22 years, George went to town that night. A little before eight o'clock Flora went to her room which was upstairs.
Mr. Tennyson sat near the center of the room with his back to Mrs. Tennyson, and was reading a paper. Suddenly there was a thunderous explosion accompanied by a crash of glass. The concussion extinguished the lamps in the house and stunned Mrs. Tennyson, who believed that a lamp had exploded. When she recovered from the shock she groped her way to her husband, but could not arouse him. She then hurried to Flora's room and found her daughter about half undressed, just before ready to retire for the night. The daughter was unmoved by the explosion. She afterwards stated that she thought it was a shotgun fired by a neighbor to scare the coyotes from his sheep.
Mrs. Tennyson and her daughter hurried downstairs, where they found the father dead, lying limp in his chair. A hole in the back of his head, near the base of the brain told the story of the shooting.
The authorities learned of the crime that night and at once took up the search for the murderer or murderers. Bloodhounds were put on the case and special detectives employed, but never was sufficient evidence brought to light to justify an arrest.
A print of a woman's shoe was found right in line with the probable path taken by the murderer. It measured exactly with Flora's foot. The shoe, it is believed, contained an empty shell. This shell, which had been freshly discharged and the detectives were of the opinion that this was the weapon used in the killing.
Within a few weeks after the murder of her father Flora Tennyson was taken sick and died. It was known that before the tragedy she had quarreled violently with her father on several occasions because of the objections of the father to the visits of a young man named Horace Trooper to Flora. But George Tennyson, the son, had also quarreled with his father many times over money matters, so that so far as a motive was concerned the authorities were unable to make a decision. Soon after Flora's death the son George left Marshall county and bought a farm in Ottawa county. It was the general opinion when he left Franklin that he knew more of the tragedy than he cared to tell. But nothing was ever done in the matter and no arrests were made.
Two weeks ago, however, interest in the famous case was revived by the action of some of the relatives of the murdered man. Accompanied by Marshall county officers they went to the home of George Tennyson and formally charged him with knowledge of the crime. He was taken to town and severely cross-examined for several hours. For a time he steadfastly denied that he knew any more concerning the tragedy than he had already told. Under the sweating process, however, he finally broke down and solemnly confessed to the secret that he said he had kept since his sister Flora's death. He said that on the day before his sister died he was sitting by her bed, fainting her. She had not been able to talk or hear for several days. She made known that she wanted a pencil and paper, which her brother gave her. She wrote: "George, I was the cause of father's death. Don't tell anyone unless you have to," which she signed. This written confession George produced from his vault in the Ottawa bank and handed over to the officers. It is now believed that Mr. Tennyson's objection to the intimacy between his daughter and Horace Trooper prompted the crime, and every effort is now being made to find out if any other person was implicated in the murder.

COUNCIL PASSES
DOG ORDINANCE

ALL DOGS MUST BE MUZZLED
AFTER JAN. 27TH.

HELD ADJOURNED MEETING

Question of Salaries of the Holdover
Aldermen is Laid on Table
Till Next Meeting.

With all the aldermen present at the adjourned meeting of the council last evening the question of the muzzling ordinance was settled. Two ordinances, drafted by the city attorney,
were offered to the council.
The shorter one providing for the muzzling of dogs for a period of sixty days was passed.

The other provided for the imposing of a dog tax, the appointment of a dogcatcher by the chief of police and a penalty for the violation of the ordinance. This proposed ordinance also included a section making it unlawful for dogs to run at large upon the streets.

On motion of Alderman Buehler
the following ordinance was given its first, second and third readings and was unanimously adopted:

"Ordinance No. 324.
"An ordinance to restrain and regulate dogs running at large.

"The Mayor and Common Council of the City of Janesville, Wisconsin,
do ordain as follows:

"Section 1. On the petition of five or more citizens of the city of Janesville, the common council if in its opinion public safety shall demand may order that no dog or specimen of the dog species be permitted to run at large within the limits of this city, for a period not exceeding sixty days unless securely muzzled. Such order shall be made public by causing printed notices thereof to be posted in not less than fifty places within the limits of the city, and by publishing
the same in the official paper.

"Section 2. It shall be the duty of the chief of police and of such persons as are authorized by the chief of police, to kill all animals of the dog kind found running at large after the publication of the order provided for in the preceding section.

"Section 3. The owner or keeper of any dog or specimen of the dog species found running at large contrary to the provisions of this ordinance shall be punished on conviction by a fine of not less than five dollars or not more than $25.00.

"Section 4. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication.
"Dated this 23rd day of January, 1908.
"S. B. HEDDLERS,
Mayor.

"A. E. HADGER,
"City Clerk."
Order Also Adopted
The following order was also adopted:

"Ordered by the Mayor and Common Council of the City of Janesville, Wisconsin, that all dogs running at large be muzzled for a period of 60 days. All dogs running at large without muzzles will be destroyed.

"This order to take effect on and after the 27th day of January, 1908.
"Approved,
"S. B. HEDDLERS,
Mayor.

"A. E. HADGER,
"City Clerk."
The adoption of such an order is necessary in order to enforce the ordinance passed.

The report of Health Officer Dr.
Merritt was also read and adopted,
as was the petition signed by the doctors
in the city requesting that dogs be muzzled for a certain period. The report of the health officer recommended an ordinance similar to that which was passed.

Other Business
The bond of E. W. Miller for keeping a saloon was offered and accepted on motion of Alderman Dullin and a motion was also made and passed allowing Wallace to transfer his saloon license to his saloon at No. 5 N. Franklin street to E. W. Miller.

A request from Chief Klein for the members of the Fire and Water committee and as many aldermen as possible to be present at the West Side engine-house at two o'clock today to witness the testing of some hose was also read. The chief reported the hose as being unsatisfactory and wished the aldermen to witness the test.

Salary Question Laid Over Alderman Merritt, chairman of the Finance committee, offered for adoption the salary list for January. This list included the salaries of the hold-over aldermen. On motion of Alderman Dullin this was laid on the table
until the next regular meeting. City Attorney Maxfield said there was no question as to the right of the five plaintiffs in the recent suit in the supreme court to their salaries, but that he had not had time as yet to prepare an opinion on the matter.

Private Skating Party: About forty complex attended the first of the private skating parties given at the rink last evening. The Gray & Carter orchestra of six pieces played and a delightful time was enjoyed by all.

The attendance, however, was just about large enough to meet expenses.
Manager Connor announced that he would "give society another chance" next Thursday evening.

at the New Yards are Taken Out
For Use.

Twelve engines which have been stored at the round house in the new yards for the past month or so have been taken out the last two days and sent out for service. It would seem from this that the railroad business around here so far this winter is picking up again. Engines 1149, 1168, 1235 and 1356 were brought up yesterday and sent out for service on the Galena division. To day seven more engines 81, 228, 321, 381, 383, and 282 were taken out of the roundhouse. Engines 81 and 228 will go into service on the northern Wisconsin division 321 and 282 will be used on the Wisconsin division and

MILTON CONSTABLE
LOST HIS PRISONER

Went to Milwaukee With Prisoner
Detective Took Him Away from Him on Street.

Milwaukee, Jan. 24.—J. M. Moffler, constable at Milton, Wis., came to MILwaukee on an excellent time yesterday.

He lost $10 by coming here.
He had arrested Clarence Haldell wanted by Milwaukee police, and he decided to deliver the goods himself.

After the pair arrived in Milwaukee and had reached Fourth street and Grand avenue Constable Moffler's prisoner was taken away by a detective.

It was John Northington from the central station, who had recognized Haldell.

"Say," said the disgruntled constable "I had promised to come today I would have made $10 more in the blacksmith shop. Sharpshoot weather turned up this morning. You can come after your man hereafter."

Haldell is held on statutory charge.

GASOLINE "SCOOT" IS TO BE DISCONTINUED

Has Proved a Success by the Illinois
Central on Run From Freeport.

(Special to this Gazette.)
Monroe, Wis., Jan. 21.—The Illinois Central, it is reported on what appears to be the best authority, is getting ready to restore daily passenger service between Monroe and Madison in place of the motor car which had been running for two weeks. The motor car, it is stated, was leased
from the Union Pacific for a month, which terminates Feb. 14. The experiment is considered successful only the traffic is so heavy and there is much complaint because of mail, baggage or express is not carried that the company considers that a passenger train will best meet the needs of the public. The car is carrying on an average of one hundred passengers on single trips and as a rule is so crowded that it does not provide sufficient accommodations for the travel there is both to and from Madison. While the car, every day it has run, pays more than again what it costs to operate it, it is not doing the business that a passenger train would do.

The experiment has proven that a motor car will answer very well to supplement regular train service by filling in the gaps where trains do not run both ways morning and evening.
In the case of the Milwaukee road
a motor car would be a great convenience to travelers on the Mineral Park division if it ran west out of Janesville early in the morning and back late in the afternoon. There is no passenger train west of Monroe until noon and none east after the arrival of the Milwaukee train shortly before 4 o'clock. The motor car is a great improvement over freight trains and is ahead of interurban service as the motor car makes better time and fewer stops.

EDWARD M. HYZER IS
IN A NEW LAW FIRM

Former Janesville Attorney Enters
Firm of Cary, Upham & Black in Milwaukee.

Edward M. Hyzer who until 1897
was a prominent attorney in Janesville and who then has practiced in Milwaukee, has just become a member of the law firm of Cary, Upham & Black, one of the oldest legal firms in the cream city. The firm was started in 1847 by Mr. Charles K. Wells who in 1852 became associated with Mr. J. R. Brigham, the firm being known as Wells and Brigham. In 1879 H. A. J. Upham became associated with the firm and upon Mr. Wells death in 1882 the old firm name was continued until the death of Mr. Brigham in 1897 when W. E. Black became a partner with Mr. Upham joining with John T. Fish and Alfred L. Cary under the name Fish, Cary, Upham and Black. Mr. Fish died in 1900 and the firm became Cary, Upham and Black. Two other Janesville lawyers are associated with this firm, Charles Russell and W. A. Jackson. The Milwaukee Sentinel in speaking of the new firm says of Mr. Hyzer:

"Edward M. Hyzer is recognized throughout the state as one of the ablest lawyers at the bar. He came to Milwaukee in 1897, and later was associated with John T. Fish, then Wisconsin chief justice of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway company. Upon the death of Mr. Fish in 1900 Mr. Hy-zer was chosen his successor, and has since that time devoted himself solely to the business of the Northwestern railway, having sole charge of the legal business of the company in Wisconsin, both in the trial courts and before the supreme court. Mr. Hyzer has proven himself to be a lawyer of exceptional ability, thorough in the preparation and trial of cases, forecast and convincing in his arguments, and achieving such success both before court and jury as to make him honored and respected in legal circles throughout the state. In engaging in the general practice of the law, Mr.
Hyzer will not desert the field of railroad law, but will continue personally to act as Wisconsin attorney for the Northwestern as heretofore."

"The new firm will be located at 227 to 246 Wells building."

HARD GAME ON FOR TOMORROW EVENING

Local Y. M. C. A. Players Will Meet Belvidere Basketball Team Tomorrow Night.

With one defeat on their schedule so far the Y. M. C. A. basketball team will play the Belvidere five tomorrow evening. This will undoubtedly be the hardest game which the Janesville team will have to play. They were beaten the other night by the Milton college team at Milton, but this was owing to the poor playing of the team from here which seemed to take a decided slump in their playing when they met the college team.

The Belvidere team and the Janesville team will play the first game of the evening, which will be followed by the principal game. The games, which will be called at seven-thirty, will be played in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium.

CUBS TWISTED TIGERS' TAIL IN DOWLING GAME

Are Now Cheery and Want to Dowl Any Team Under Twenty Years of Age.

Last evening the Tigers lost another kick in their tail when the Cubs beat them by fifty-six runs. On Monday the Cubs meet the 1884 Toss Doves and then are out with an open challenge to any team in the city under twenty years of age.

On Tuesday the Wetmorens beat the Cross State of Beloit at Rockford's eleven. The winners of this game are to host the All Stars of Beloit for the Southwestern Wisconsin championship. The Hal Tones hope to win their game Tuesday.

It was also decided that, at the next regular meeting to be held Feb. 13th, all officers and members be present for the exemplification of the ritual work. Meeting will be called at 7:30 p. m. sharp.

Talks to High School: Students in the High School have been entertained as well as instructed the last few mornings by a series of talks on astronomy given by Professor John A. Bartholomew. THE DISTILLERS' CONVENTION

The distillers' convention, held at Louisville, Kentucky, a few days ago, in the interests of the liquor business, passed a series of resolutions, and outlined a model license law, both of which are worthy of recognition.

The men engaged in the manufacture of spirituous liquors fully understand the import of the law and order sentiment, just now prevailing throughout the country, and show a disposition to meet it halfway.

That they have been tardy in coming to their senses, and are largely responsible for present conditions, is a self-evident fact.

The resolutions adopted indicate, however, that they are now alive to the situation, and that they propose to join the procession in demanding wholesome regulatory laws. They realize that while the secular press of the country has opposed prohibition as a political measure, that it is practically a unit in supporting the law and order campaign, so they say:

Of Course They Said So.

"How did you happen to come to me for your dentistry," said Dr. Richards to a patient recently.

"Why, you see I'm a stranger here," said the party, "and I inquired of several people as to what dentist to go to and they all said 'Dr. Richards' if I wanted 'Painless work.'"

"Of course, I didn't want to be hurt and so I came up to you."

"Well, are you sorry you came?"

"Not a bit. You never hurt me in the least."

It's worth something to have such a reputation for Painless Dentistry. If you need dentistry and wish perfect satisfaction try Dr. Richards. He "delivers the goods."

DISQUIETED BY DISAPPEARANCE

IN MYSTERIOUS MANNER LAST WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

OF MISS JOSEPHINE MALONE

Friends and the Police Are Making Inquiries in All Parts of the City Today—Hope She Went with Her Brother.

Unless a brother who manages a farm on the river road, seven miles from Janesville, drives to the city with some reassuring tidings this afternoon, the uneasiness of friends regarding the rather mysterious disappearance of Miss Josephine Malone last Wednesday night will give place to grave apprehension and alarm. No one in town, so far as can be learned, has seen her since she left the home of Dennis Hayes that the evening. It transpires that the brother, Frank Malone, was here that night; that he left the Union House in the neighborhood of half-past nine or ten o'clock and drove to a store on South Main street for supplies before commencing his trip back to the farm. Miss Malone at one time had been a waitress in the Hayes block but moved to the Knollworth flats over the South Main street five-cent theatre, something ago. She rented two of the rooms to young women employed in the Lewis Knitting Co.'s plant.

Circumstances Unusual.

Her age is given as forty-five years and it is said of her that she has always been very precise and particular about returning to her apartments early in the evening and informing her tenants when, for any reason, she has found it necessary to deviate from the rule. In this instance she left no word and an examination of her rooms has shown that wherever she went, she took with her none of the garments which she would naturally have worn if going away for a visit. The tenants informed Dennis Hayes and Roy, Father W. A. Gehl of the circumstances and they made a thorough inquiry in the city last evening and this morning. City Marshal W. H. Appleby is also making an investigation.

Brother Is Very Doubtful.

William Malone, another brother who resides in Janesville, is so certain that she did not go to the other brother's farm that he would not follow out the suggestion of driving out there when it was made to him this morning. There is no way of reaching the place by telephone and the other members of the searching party are anxiously awaiting the advent of Frank Malone in the city today. When he left last Wednesday night he told the management of the Union House that he would re-visit the city on Friday, perhaps at one o'clock in the afternoon. At 3:30 p. m. today he had not yet put in an appearance.

COMMERCIAL

BANKING

AN English financial authority says that "Nothing is easier to conduct than the business of a banker if he will only learn the difference between a mortgage and a bill of exchange." A bill of exchange means to the Englishman what we call commercial paper.

This bank does a strictly commercial business and its assets are almost entirely commercial paper, that is short time notes easily converted into cash or its equivalent. The wisdom of this policy for a commercial bank was shown by our ability recently to convert quickly into cash assets our outstanding loans, increasing our reserve in a short period from 30% to 55% of deposits.

3% INTEREST PAID ON DEPOSITS IN SAVINGS DEPARTMENT.

You can start an account with $1 or more. Interest is compounded twice a year. A savings account is preferable to a checking account in that it accumulates money for you without stopping interest on the remainder.

$338,880 paid to depositors in interest is the record of this bank.

Your checking account is also collected, whether large or small. Modern safe deposit boxes on very reasonable terms.

CASH RESOURCES $338,870.

ONE OF THE PLATES IN THE WORLD'S LARGEST DEPOSIT VAULT.

New York, Jan. 21.—The largest steel vault in the world is now being installed by the Carnegie Steel Deposit company in this city in their magnificent headquarters in the United States Realty building, corner Broadway and Cedar streets. The huge plates used are of the same quality of steel used by the leading nations in the protection of their battlefields, and are proof against even any modern high power gun capable of being brought to an attack on the vault. The Harveyized nickel steel surfaces of the plates afford positive impenetrability to the burglar's drill.

UNITED STATES ASSAY OFFICE.
The new office adjacent appears a low, most unpretentious structure. As is generally understood, the work of the office consists of assays of gold and silver, in whatsoever form presented—bullion, coin, tableware or jewelry—at a nominal charge to the owner based on actual cost. The government then buys the metal, if for sale. Fine gold brings $20.67 an ounce; silver, fluctuating with the market, $10.00 an ounce. It is no uncommon thing to have $10,000,000 in $20.00 gold and silver in the vaults. The present room is necessitated for protection as well as for additional room.

RHEUMATISM CAN NOT BE RUBBED AWAY

Rubbing with liniments, blistering the affected parts, the application of plasters, and other means of external treatment, are usually helpful in relieving the pains and aches of Rheumatism, but such remedies do not reach the CAUSE of the disease, and are therefore in no sense curative. Rheumatism is due to an excess of uric acid in the blood, brought about by indigestion, poor bowel action, weak kidneys, and a general sluggish condition of the system. The circulation deposits this irritating poison in the different muscles, nerves, tendons and joints of the body, and soon the painful symptoms of Rheumatism are produced. The pains at first may be wandering and slight; but as the blood becomes more fully saturated with the uric acid poison, the disease grows worse and after awhile gets to be chronic. The slight, wandering pains now become sharp and cutting at the least exposure to dampness or night air, or any constitutional irregularity, the bones ache, the muscles are not as free in action as before, and where the acid poison is allowed to remain in the blood the joints often become so clogged with corrosive substances that they are left permanently stiff and useless. Rheumatism can never be rubbed away, nor can it be conquered and driven from the system until the acid-laden blood has been cleansed and purified. No other medicine does this so effectively as S. S. S. It dissolves and removes the impurities and sends a stream of rich, strong blood to the affected parts, which soothes the irritated nerves, inflamed muscles and flesh, and the sufferer obtains relief that is permanent because the real cause of the disease has been removed. Special book on Rheumatism and any medical advice desired free.

"I want you to go," said the doctor harshly. "Before your self control goes. Do you understand? I want you to go before your decision is undermined; before you begin to do devious things, sly things, cheating things, slinking things—anything and everything to get at the thing you crave. I've given you something to fight with, and you won't take it faithfully. I've given you free rein in tobacco and tea and coffee. I've helped you as much as I dare to weather the nights. Now, you help me, do you hear?"

"Yes, I will."
"You say so; now do it. Do something for yourself. Do anything. If you're sick of reading—and I don't blame you, considering the stuff you read—get people down here to see you; get lots of people. Telephone 'em. You're a telephone there, haven't you? There it is by your elbow. Use it. Call up people. Talk all the time."

"Good! Now, Steve, we know what's the matter physically, don't we? Of course we do. Now, then, what's the matter mentally?"

"Mentally?" repeated Seward under his breath.

"Yes, mentally. What's the trouble? Stocks? Bonds? Law suits? Love?" The slightest pause and a narrowing of the glimmer eyes behind the lenses. "Love?" he repeated harshly. "Which is it, boy? They're all good to let alone."

"Business," said Seward. But, being a Seward, he was obliged to add "partly."

"Business—partly," repeated the doctor. "What's the matter with business—partly?"

"I don't know. There are rumors. Harrington is pounding me—apparently. That intercommodity crowd is acting suspiciously too. There's something un-derstand somewhere."

"Yes, I know. What's the trouble? Stocks? Bonds? Law suits? Love?" The slightest pause and a narrowing of the glimmer eyes behind the lenses. "Love?" he repeated harshly. "Which is it, boy? They're all good to let alone."

"All right; all right," said the doctor. "Let it go at that. Business symptoms admitted, what about the party, Stephen? What about it, eh? What about it?"

But Seward fell silent again.

"Eh? Did you say something? No? Oh, very well, very well, sir! Perfectly correct, Stephen. You have not earned the right to admit further knees, lay back in his armchair, chatting with that winning informality so becoming to men who are unconscious of their charm."

Watching Plank, it occurred to him gradually that this great, cumbersome creature was not a shrewd, thrifty, self-made and self-finished adult at all—only a big, wistful, lonely boy without comrades and with nowhere to play.

Plank spoke of himself after awhile, sounding the personal note with tentative timidity. Seward gravely encouraged him, and in a little while the outlines of his crude autobiography appeared, embodying his avowed boyhood in a Pennsylvania town, his career at the high school, the dawning desire for college equipment, satisfied by his father, who owned shares in the promising Duquesne Steel Plant company; the unhappy years at Harvard—hard years, for he was not sought by those whom he desired to know. Then he ventured to speak of his father's growing interest in steel, the merging and absorbing of independent plants, his own entry upon the scene on the death of his father, and—the rest—material fortune and prosperity, which perhaps might stand substitute as a social sponsor for him; stand perhaps for something of what he lacked in himself, which

"She has refused me," Seward said simply.

"The little doctor, after an incredulous stare, began chattering with wrath. 'Refused you! Puh! Puh! That's nothing. That signifies absolutely nothing. It's meaningless. It's a do-tail. You get well, do you hear? You go and get well; then try it again. Then you'll see. And if she is an idiot—in the event of her irrational persistence in an incredible and utterly indefensible attitude—he choked up, then fairly barked at Seward—'Take her anyway, sir! Run off with her! Dominate circumstances, sir! Take charge of events! But you can't do it till you've clapped yourself into prison for life! And God help you if you let yourself escape!'"

Seward smiled again, a worn, pulled smile.

"I can stand it while you are here, doctor, but when I'm alone it's hard. One of these crises is close now. I've had night ahead—a bad outlook. Couldn't you?"

"No."

"Just enough to—"

"No, Stephen."

"Enough to dull it just a little? I don't ask for enough to make me sleep, not even to make me doze. You have your needle, haven't you, doctor?"

"I dare not help you any more that way."

"Not this once?"

"Not this once."

"Not this once."

"Not this once."

"Not this once."

"Not this once."

"Not this once."

"Not this once."

"Not this once."

"Not this once."

"Not this once."

"Not this once."

"Not this once."

"Not this once."

"Not this once."

"I don't think it is a very high ambition," said Seward, smiling. "What you ask is not very much to ask of me, Mr. Plank."

Plank laughed a little, and his squared jaws relaxed; then after a few moments' thought:

"It is curious that what you east away from you so easily I am waiting for with all the patience I have in me. And yet it is always yours to pick up again whenever you wish, and I may never live to possess it."

He was so perfectly right that Seward said nothing—in fact, he could have no particular interest or sympathy for a man's quest of what he himself did not understand, the luck of it. He was, now that he knew Plank, contented to accept him anywhere he met him, but Plank's upward evolutions upon the social ladder were of no interest to him, and his naive snobbery was becoming something of a bore.

So Seward directed the conversation into other channels, and Plank, accepting another cup of tea, became very communicative about his studies and his dogs.

"I would you—I should like to ask you to try some shooting at the Falls," stammered Plank, "next season if you would care to."

"You're very good. I should like to if I were going to shoot at all, but I fancy my shooting days are over for awhile."

"Over?"

"Business," nodded Seward, absently grave again. "I see no prospect of my killing for the next year or two."

"You are in—Amalgamated Electric, I think," ventured Plank.

"Very much in," replied the other frankly. "You've read the papers and heard rumors, I suppose?"

"Some. I don't suppose anybody quite understands the attacks on Amalgamated."

"I don't—not yet. Do you?"

Plank sat silent; then his shrewd under lip began to protrude.

"I'm wondering," he began cautiously, "how much the Algonquin crowd understands about the matter?"

Seward's troubled eyes were on him as he spoke, watching closely, narrowly.

"I've heard that rumor before," he said.

"So have I," said Plank, "and it seems incredible." He looked warily at Seward. "Suppose it is true that the Algonquin Trust company is god-father to Intercommodity. That doesn't explain why a man should kick his own door down when there's a hell to ring and scrymags to let him in—and out again too."

"I have wondered," said Seward, "whether the door he might be inclined to kick down is really his own door any longer."

"I, too," said Plank simply. "It may belong to a personal enemy—if he has symptoms. No, sir, you have not earned the right to admit them to anybody, not even to yourself, nor to me."

"She has refused me," Seward said simply.

"The little doctor, after an incredulous stare, began chattering with wrath. 'Refused you! Puh! Puh! That's nothing. That signifies absolutely nothing. It's meaningless. It's a do-tail. "Not this once."

"Not this once."

"Not this once."

There was a dead silence, broken at last by the doctor with a violent gesture toward the telephone. "Talk to the girl. Why don't you talk to the girl. If she's worth a hill of beans she'll help you to hang on. What's she for if she isn't for such moments? Tell her you need her voice. Tell her you need her faith in you. Good night."

Seward lay still for a long while after the doctor had gone. More than an hour had passed before he slowly sat up and groped for the telephone book, opened it and searched in a blind, hithering way until he found the number he was looking for.

He had never telephoned to her. He had never written her except once in reply to her letter in regard to his mother's death—that strange, timid, formal letter in which, grief stunned as he was, he saw only the formality and had answered it more formally still. And that was all that had come of the days and nights by that northern sea—a letter and its answer and silence.

And, thinking of these things, he shut the book wearily and lay back in the shadow of the faded curtain, closing his sunken eyes.

TEST THIRTY LEADS THIS AFTERNOON

In the Presence of the Mayor and the Fire and Water Committee of the Council.

In the presence of the members of the Fire and Water committee of the common council this afternoon thirty fifty-foot leads of hose were tested by Chief Klein and his men, Chairman Merritt, Aldermen Rohlfeld, Sheldon and Buchholz and Mayor Heddles were present. Alderman Dulin was the only member of the committee absent.

Thirty fifty-foot leads were tested under one hundred and fifty pounds pressure furnished by the Water Works engine. Out of this number eight leads were broken. One hundred and fifty pounds is the pressure obtained from a hydrant, so that the pressure put on the hose was less than that which it would have to bear during a fire. These leads would measure about fifteen hundred feet and there is in all about twenty-five hundred feet owned by the Fire Department.

After testing the hose in this manner the Chief showed how it stretched under pressure. A length measuring fifty-two feet four inches when empty measured sixty-two feet and three inches when put under pressure. This, of course, made the diameter of the hose smaller and it would furnish a smaller amount of water. This hose is all about six years old.

The breaking of several leads of hose at a recent fire was what caused the chief to give this test in order that the aldermen might see the condition of the hose with which the city was supplied.

Alleged Embezzler Arrested.
Marshall, Mich., Jan. 24.—Sheriff Graham was notified Thursday of the arrest at Denver of Fred Warren, alias N. P. Warren, alias P. H. Howard, who is wanted by the police here on a charge of embezzling $1,500 involved in some life insurance premiums and policies. The prisoner is said to have worked at the insurance business in Boston, Chicago, St. Louis and in Grand Rapids, Mich.

Wrong Man Was Arrested.
Muscatine, Ia., Jan. 24.—Nicholas Pickard of Monroe, Tex., is not the William Pickard wanted in Wapello for the murder of William Leets near Grand View 29 years ago. Sherman Leets, a son of the murdered man, when he saw that injustice had been done the old man, bought his ticket back to Oklahoma and gave him $100 in cash.

Murderer Constantine Dead.
Joliet, Ill., Jan. 24.—Frank J. Constantine, who killed Mrs. Louise Gentry in Chicago and who attempted suicide last Saturday by throwing himself from an upper stairs gallery, died Thursday, night of the injuries sustained.

143 Correct Words Win Prize

Allan Burdick, 51 Fifth Ave., secured the "Viking Suit" free as the result of his efforts in compiling words from "Viking Suits." His list contained 143 correct words. Some 200 lists were received. Many close seconds to the winner and the demonstration of interest in the contest was most gratifying. Another contest will be arranged for March.
